ON THE COVER

and Public Affairs, student Amanda Frazier's graffiti-inspired design was selected. Frazier and her classmates spent several months painting the mural, which was revealed in early 2016. Frazier explained the colorful abstract background represents Polk State's diverse student body, while the eagle head is meant to convey a sense of unity. "We're all different, but we're all united by Polk State College. We're all here to spread our wings and take off in our career field of choice," she said.

The full mural can be viewed in the Polk State Winter Haven Student Center game room, MON-THU 10AM-4PM.
